

LHDA CONTRIBUTES TO NATIONAL DIALOGUE AT 2026 IRMSA LESOTHO CONFERENCE

The Lesotho Highlands Development Authority (LHDA) participated in the 2026 Institute of Risk Management South Africa (IRMSA) Lesotho Conference held on 25 February 2026, contributing to national discussions on risk management and organisational resilience.

IRMSA is a recognised professional body that promotes the advancement of risk management practices across industries in Southern Africa. Its annual conferences provide a platform for knowledge sharing, capacity building, and engagement on emerging risks and governance frameworks.

Representing LHDA as keynote speakers were Tseko Molelekoa and Kholotsa Moejane, who shared insights drawn from the implementation of the Lesotho Highlands Water Project (LHWP). Their presentations highlighted the complexities of managing risk in large-scale, multi-stakeholder infrastructure projects, with a focus on proactive governance, operational resilience, and long-term sustainability.

LHDA's participation underscored its commitment to strengthening risk management systems as a critical component of safeguarding national infrastructure and ensuring the continued success of the LHWP.

The conference also provided an opportunity for LHDA to engage with industry leaders and practitioners, contributing to broader efforts to build a resilient and risk-aware professional landscape in Lesotho.
